Suspense was on the air from June 17, 1942 through September 30, 1962 on CBS. There were 945 performances of which about 902 complete shows are available. Those not available to my knowledge are marked with an asterisk (*). Most of the information was taken from the broadcasts themselves. Sometimes the show mentioned for the following week turned out to be something different – a different show, title of cast. A stock company of many actors and actresses performing at different times included: Hans Conreid, John McIntire, Jeanette Nolan, Lurene Tuttle, Cathy Lewis (probably on more shows than anyone else), Elliott Lewis, Joseph Kearns, Bill Johnstone, Mary Jane Croft, Wally Maher, Hy Averbach, Jack Kruschen, Ben Wright, Herb Butterfield, William Conrad, Harry Bartell, Paula Winslowe, Charlotte Lawrence, Ellen Morgan, Tony Barrett, Stacy Harris, Vic Perrin, Larry Haines, William Redfield, Teri Keane, Robert Readick, Elaine Rost, Evelyn Juster, Rita Lloyd, Elspeth Eric, Bill Lipton, Jackson Beck and many others.

This log lists up to 2 performers when known. The titles are as accurate as possible. Some writers who had works adapted for suspense or who wrote directly for the series were: Robert Arthur, Ray Bradbury, Walter Black, Jonathan Bundy, George Bamber, John Dickson Carr, Bob Corcoran, Joseph Cochran, Ronald Dawson, Michael Frost, Mort Fine & David Friedkin, Peter Fernandez, Lucille Fletcher, Milton Gieger, Ben Hecht, Ben Kagen, Irwin Lewis, Eleazar Lipsky, Edgar Allen Poe, Herb Meadow, Mercer McCloud, E. Jack Neuman, James Poe, Richard George Petichini, Sylvia Richards, Robert L. Richards, John Roeburt, Sam Pierce, Dorothy L. Sayers, H. G. Wells, Cornell Woolrich, James Thurber and Allan Sloane. Several actors and directors also wrote for Suspense including Robert Readick, Elspeth Eric, Ralph Bell, William N. Robson, Antony Ellis, William Spier and Elliott Lewis

Announcers included Paul Frees, Joseph Kearns, Ted Osborne, Truman Bradley, Ken Niles, Frank Martin, Robert Montgomery, Harlow Wilcox, Stuart Metz, Warren Muran and Dennis James.

Sound effects personnel included Berne Surrey, Walter Otto, Ray Kemper, Bill James, Joseph Kabibble. Composes and conductors included Alexander Semmler (Wrote the theme), Bernard Herrmann, Lud Gluskin, Lucian Moraweck, Rene Garriguene, Leith Stevens, Wilbur Hatch, Paul Barron, Lyn Murray, Emerigo Morino, Norman Paris and Ethel Huber.

CBS had a summer series during 1940 called "Forecast." This program aired pilots and previews of programs that the networks were considering for production. On July 22 it broadcast Suspense. The episode was "The Lodger" with Herbert Marshall and Noreen Gammill. It was directed by Alfred Hitchcock who had a cameo role with music composed by Wilbur Hatch.

What follows is information on time (Eastern Time), day, date, directors, sponsors, etc. for the entire run of the series. Occasionally there were guest directors and programming changes. Football games, later on, often postponed or canceled a show. All changes are listed below. The log itself follows this section
